AUTHORIZED NEW EDITIONS

PRUE AND I

By GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS. With Numerous and Characteristic Illustrations by Albert E. Sterner. Crown 8vo, Bound in Green Cloth, with Uncut Edges and Gilt Top, $2.00. Also Post 8vo, with a Portrait and 3 Illustrations. Bound in Lilac Cloth, Rough Edges and Stained Top, 50 Cents.

In order to satisfy the general demand, the publishers have prepared a cheap handy edition of "PRUE AND I," which is at the same time a well bound, durable book. This edition is bound in lilac cloth, and has a frontispiece portrait of Mr. Curtis and three illustrations. The large edition illustrated by Albert E. Sterner is for the first time put on sale at the reduced price of $2.00.

JOHN S. C. ABBOTT'S LIFE OF NAPOLEON

Large 8vo, Copiously Illustrated, 2 Volumes, Cloth, $3.00.

A new authorized edition of Abbott's "LIFE OF NAPOLEON" is announced for publication in the immediate future. The edition will be in two large 8vo volumes in plain dark blue cloth covers. It will be printed on an excellent quality of paper, and will be profusely illustrated. There will also be a number of maps of Napoleon's campaigns. The regular retail price will be $3.00. Mr. Abbott's work is recognized as a standard biography, and is now put before the public in a substantial library edition.

NOTES IN SEASON.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will shortly publish "Robespierre, the Story of Victorien Sardou's Play," by Ange Galdemar; also, a new and fully revised edition of Austin Dobson's "The Life of Oliver Goldsmith," which has never before been published in this country.

HINDS & NOBLE, New York, have purchased the plates, and will publish immediately new revised editions of Sherill's "New Normal Question Book," Henry's "New High School Question Book," Lind's "Best Methods of Teaching in Country Schools," Sherill's "Normal Reader," and Jeffers' "Shortest Road to Cæsar."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish at an early date an important sociological work by Dr. McKim, entitled "Heredity and Human Progress." They have in preparation a new work by Horatio W. Dresser, entitled "Voices of Freedom;" and "Alexander the Great," by Prof. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, which is now running serially in the Century.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have nearly ready "Nooks and Corners of Old New York," a collection of picturesque sketches and essays, by Charles Hemstreet, with illustrations by E. C. Peixotto. They will publish, probably in September, a volume of eleven stories and sketches by Henry Van Dyke, to be entitled "Fisherman's Luck;" also, Ernest Seton Thompson's story, "The Trail of the Sand Hill Stag," with illustrations in color and black and white and marginal designs by the author, gotten up in a style uniform with Van Dyke's "The First Christmas Tree."

HARPER & BROTHERS have in preparation a new and complete edition of "The Life and Works of the Sisters Brontë," which will consist of seven volumes after the style of The Biographical edition of Thackeray's Works. It is to be entitled The Haworth edition, after the Brontë family home. Mrs. Humphry Ward will contribute a preface to each novel of the three sisters, and Mrs. Gaskell's "Life of Charlotte Brontë," with annotations by Clement K. Shorter, will also be included. "Jane Eyre" will be the first volume to be issued, and will be ready in September.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish shortly Anthony Hope's new novel, "The King's Mirror," which will be issued uniform with "The God in the Car." They have in press Frank T. Bullen's new sea story, entitled "The Log of a Sea Waif: being recollections of the first four years of my sea life," which has been suggestively described by one who has read the manuscript as an English companion to Dana's "Two Years Before the Mast;" also, a story of the London season, by Sir William Maguay, author of "The Pride of Life," entitled "The Heiress of the Season." The publication of "Principles of Taxation," by the late David A. Wells, has been postponed until October.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish in September Clement Scott's new volume, "The Drama of Yesterday and To-day." Much regret is expressed in England that Mr. Scott should date his reminiscences from 1841, the year of his birth, instead of starting either at the point where his personal acquaintance with the drama began or at the point where Genest in his "English Stage," (1830,) left off. Critics have discovered that there is a grave hiatus in the chronicles of the English stage from 1830 to the early fifties. Even from 1850 to the present day the knowledge possessed is most fragmentary. Henry Morley's "Journal of a London Play-goer" extends from 1851 to 1866. Dutton Cook's "Nights at the Play" from 1867 to 1881, and Joseph Knight's "Theatrical Notes" from 1874 to 1879. The Academy of London declares that the most valuable service that Mr. Scott could perform for the lovers of the theatre would be to present an adequate sequel to Genest.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Arabian nights. A plain and literal translation of the Arabian nights' entertainments, now entitled "The book of the thousand nights and a night," with introduction, explanatory notes on the manners and customs of Moslem men and a terminal essay upon the history of The nights, by Richard F. Burton. V. 1. [Denver, The Burton Society, 1899.] 27+(1)+362 p. 26 il. O. [2369]

This is an extra-illustrated facsimile of the edition issued by the Kamashastra Society at Benares, 1885. It is issued by The Burton Society for private circulation only.

Birt, Archibald. Castle Czvargas: a romance: being a plain story of the romantic adventures of two brothers told by the younger of them, and ed., by Archibald Birt. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1899. 8+298 p. D. cl., $1.25. [2370]

A story of the seventeenth century. The exceptional skill of the brothers in wrestling, swimming, and swordsmanship adds interest to the tale. The scene is laid in Somersetshire.

Broughton, Rhoda. The game and the candle. N. Y., Appleton, 1899. 2+305 p. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 268.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2371]

On his deathbed the husband of Jane Etheredge endeavors to make her promise that she will never marry a certain man whom he knows she loves. She refuses to promise, and he disinherits her. The story relates how in time she meets the forbidden suitor, but finds him so changed that she finally feels the game she has played was not worth the candle.

California. The statutes of California and amendments to the codes, passed at the thirty-third session of the legislature, 1899; begun on Monday, January 2d, and ended on Sunday, March 19, 1899. San Francisco, Bancroft-Whitney Co., 1899. 574 p. 8°, shp., $3.50. [2372]

Cathey, Ja. H. Truth is stranger than fiction; or, the true genesis of a wonderful man. Asheville, N. C., H. Taylor Rogers, [1899.] c. 5-185 p. por. sq. S. cl., 60 c. [2373]

Abraham Lincoln is the wonderful man. The writer has labored long and hunted up much evidence to prove a tradition current in Rutherford Co., North Carolina, that the father of Abraham Lincoln was Abraham Enloe and his mother Nancy Hanks a girl living as servant in the Enloe family. The histories of all the people giving evidence is given. They rank among the honorable and trustworthy citizens of North Carolina. The author wishes to prove that through his father Abraham Lincoln can trace his ancestry to William the Conqueror. He believes this accounts for his chief characteristics.

Dreyfus, Alfred. Letters d'un innocent: the letters of captain Dreyfus to his wife; tr. by L. G. Moreau. N. Y., Harper, 1899. c. 16+234 p. D. cl., $1. [2381]

The letters cover the period from December 5, 1894, to February 14, 1898. They contain the only defence which Dreyfus has made. They refute the calumny that his married life was not what it should have been. They are dated from the prison of Cherche-Midi, the prison of La Santé, from Saint Martin de Ré, and from Îles du Sault. There is an introduction, summing up the Dreyfus case, by Walter Littlefield, author of "The truth about Dreyfus."

- Porter, Linn Boyd, ["Albert Ross," pseud.] The naked truth. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham Co., 1899. c. 3-275 p. D. (Albatros novels, no. 21.) buckram, $1; pap., 50 c. [2413]
Supposed to be the history of Rosa Laclede, an erratic American girl, who figured in some decidedly questionable episodes while still in her earliest childhood. Rosa tells her own story, analyzing her sentiments about love and marriage, and dwelling upon incidents that preceded and followed what she terms her first marriage. Mr. Ross's purpose seems to be to point out some of the dangers that threaten precocious children of both sexes, although he suggests no remedy for the social evil.
- Rayner, Olive Pratt. Rosalba: the story of her development. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1899. c. 5+396 p. (Hudson lib., no. 39) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2414]
A novel founded on the supposed adventures of a piquant little girl, the child of an Italian patriot and an Irish peasant woman. Rosalba tells her own story, beginning with an account of her first meeting with her lover on the Monti Berici, near Vicenza, telling how she eventually ran away from a drunken mother and travelled through France with a marionette troupe, how she was adopted by an English member of Parliament, and why she finally rejected the staid Englishman who figured in her fortune.
- *Rice, Frank S. Probate reports annot.; cont. recent cases of general value decided in the courts of the several states on points of probate law; with notes and references. V. 3. N. Y., Baker, Voorhis & Co., 1899. c. 19+752 p. 8°, shp., $5.75. [2415]
- Rod, Edouard. The sacrifice of silence; tr. by J: W. Harding. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham Co., 1899. c. 4-230 p. D. cl., $1.50. [2416]
The author introduces in his latest novel two widely contrasting episodes of human love for the evident purpose of proving that the men who were silent under the trying conditions depicted, made, according to their different interpretations of the moral code, a heroic sacrifice to silence. Two women also play important parts in this drama of French social life.
- *Rose, W., and Carless, Albert. Manual of surgery, for students and practitioners. N. Y., W: Wood & Co., 1899. 1162 p. il. 8°, cl., $5; leath., $5.75. [2417]

Steffens, Josephine Bontecou. Letitia Berkeley, A.M.: a novel. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1899.] c. 6+292 p. D., cl., $1.25. [2425]

Letitia Berkeley left her New England home to earn her living and see more of life than her old father craved for. After falling in love with a society man, she gives him up and becomes a medical student in Paris. The story dwells especially upon the difference of the moral standard held binding upon men and women. During her student days in Paris Letitia meets anarchists and theorists of both sexes.

Warman, Cy. Snow on the headlight: a story of the great Burlington strike. N. Y., Appleton, 1899. c. 3+249 p. D. cl., $1.25. [2429]

The time is 1888. The scenes are Western. While a train is running at the speed of ninety miles an hour the conductor orders the fireman to clear the snow from the headlight, in order that the light may be seen. During a pathetic scene in the last chapter, the phrase "Snow on the headlight" is again used by an engineer. Mr. Warman shows that a great strike is injurious to both employer and workman. The characters introduced are the various types who usually figure in a great labor war. The rights of both the master and workman are defended, and the cause of labor is sympathetically treated.

Veysey, Arthur H. Hats off! N. Y., G. W. Dillingham Co., 1899. c. 3-225 p. D. cl., $1.25; pap., 50 c. [2430]

A comedy of American social life. The Van Winkle Dames are represented as an organization of society women, who revere the customs of European court life, and who, in accordance with these views, elect a queen. A congratulatory letter sent to her falls by mistake in the hands of the queen of a rival society. Following this incident are some grotesque scenes in an original plot. The novel is evidently a satire on a recent social agitation in the Society of the Holland Dames.

During the years ending June 30, 1868, 1878, 1888, and 1898, the values of books and other printed matter, of domestic manufacture, exported from the United States were as follows: In 1868, $349,993; in 1878, $586,355; in 1888, $1,743,571; and in 1898, $2,434,325. The figures in 1868 are expressed in currency of which the average value was 71.5 in gold.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 29, 1899.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE BOOK EXHIBIT AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION OF 1900.

GREAT preparations are being made in Paris for the Exposition of 1900, and already there is evidence on the Champ de Mars of the huge structure, probably the largest ever yet erected, which is to be the main building of the Exposition with which France is to usher in the twentieth century. The American Commission is permanently represented in Paris by the Associate Commissioner-General, Professor Woodward, and F. J. V. Skiff, Director-General of Exhibits, has just returned from Paris to Chicago, after a first examination of the arrangements in Paris.

Through the efforts of M. Terquem a creditable collective exhibit from American book publishers is assured; but it is to be hoped that all publishers will combine to make the exhibit not only creditable, but thoroughly representative. The recent Publishers' Congress in London was a marked proof of the confraternity among publishers which is growing up throughout the leading countries where books are published. American publishers, since the old American Booktrade Association became defunct, have been behind their English and French and German brethren in organization and in collective representation, and it is to be hoped that the present opportunity will be utilized to show a patriotic spirit on the part of our American trade, which will give evidence to the publishers of other countries that we are not behind them in trade pride and spirit.

It is greatly to be regretted that there has been so much red tape in connection with this particular book exhibit as to be most discouraging to those who proposed to take part in the collective exhibition. There is reason to believe that such difficulties have now been overcome and that there will be cordial co-operation not only on the part of Commissioner-General Peck and Associate Commissioner Woodward, but of those more directly in charge of exhibits—Mr. Skiff, as Director-General, who is heartily in harmony with the plan, and Mr. Capehart, the director in charge of this particular section, who is not to be considered as unfriendly to the exhibit, although the difficulties arising in his office seem to have been considerable.

The American book-trade exhibit will consist of the collective exhibit in which M. Terquem is the representative of the publishers participating, and of individual exhibits representing other publishers. It is to be hoped that in one division or the other every prominent American house may be fully represented. It is of course necessary, as has been made clear by Mr. Capehart and by M. Terquem, that applications should be made individually by exhibitors, whether they exhibit individually or in the collective exhibit, and that in the latter case M. Terquem should have specific authorization from each house to represent it in the affairs of the Exposition. A form of letter giving such authorization has been prepared by M. Terquem in consultation with the Exposition authorities and is probably at this writing in the hands of those proposing to participate in the collective exhibit. We have reason to believe that they need have no fear of further complications. It should be added, in fairness, that M. Terquem is doing his work, as usual, in an admirable way, and he should receive the thanks both of the trade and of the Exposition authorities for the pains he has taken in a matter which gives him no commercial return.

The book-trade exhibit proper will include books of all classes, whether literary, educational, scientific, or other; that is, it will be an exhibit of books from the publishing or exterior point of view rather than with specific relation to their contents. Books will also be largely included in the educational exhibit in which the library interests will be prominently represented, which is under the special charge of H. J. Rogers, of the Department of Public Instruction of the State of New York. Participation in the one exhibit should not interfere with co-operation with the other.

There is a third feature suggested by Mr. Skiff personally, in which we trust he may also have the full co-operation of publishers, and in which it is to be hoped his example may be followed by others. Mr. Skiff is not only the Director-General of exhibits, but is specifically in charge, in addition, of the Mining and Metallurgy exhibit. In this field America has developed an important literature of value throughout the world, and Mr. Skiff has hit upon the happy plan of exhibiting a special American library of technical works in connection with this department. He proposes to ask from publishers the loan only of such books in these lines as are fully representative, not accepting general exhibits, but only those books which are representative of the latest and best work in the field of each, and to group these into a technical library of which a catalogue will be printed giving the publishers' name, price, etc., but having no other advertising features. Similar libraries may form part of other departments, and here there is not only a patriotic but a commercial motive, because in many scientific fields American books are so thoroughly up to date, and so far in advance, in some respects, of the literature of other countries, that there should be a direct sale as the result of this exhibit. We commend Mr. Skiff's plan cordially to the interest of the trade.

NEW YORK STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE New York State Historical Society held its annual meeting at Lake George on the 25th inst. In the absence of the president the chair was occupied by Daniel C. Farr, of Glens Falls. The following officers were elected: President, James A. Roberts, Buffalo; Vice-Presidents, Daniel C. Farr, Glens Falls, Robert C. Alexander, New York, and Pliny T. Sexton, Palmyra; Treasurer, James A. Holden, Glens Falls; Secretary, Morris P. Ferris, Glens Falls; and Assistant-Secretary, Robert O. Bascour, Fort Edward.

Of the thirty trustees all were re-elected with the exception of Dr. A. J. Cepon, of Glens Falls, and Pliny T. Sexton, of Palmyra, who, being members of the Board of Regents, were ineligible. Charles Stone, of Glens Falls, and George P. Lawton, of Saratoga, were elected in their places. Two hundred new members were elected. Reports were formally submitted by the officers. William L. Stone, of Mount Vernon, offered to donate to the society his entire collection of Revolutionary and Colonial relics as soon as it has a suitable place in which to house them.

Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, of Saratoga, made an address on historical scenes and incidents of Northern New York.

President Roberts, W. B. Tibbitts, and E. J. West were appointed a Committee on Legislation, with the view to erecting a museum at Caldwell.

AMERICAN BIBLIOGRAPHERS.

CHARLES B. NORTON.*

IN May, 1851, Charles B. Norton, then a book agent at 71 Chambers Street, (in the Irving House,) New York, began the publication of a monthly journal entitled Norton's Literary Advertiser. Mr. Norton was assisted in the editorship of his Advertiser by S. Hastings Grant, Librarian of the Mercantile Library, New York, and afterward Comptroller of New York City. Beginning with the issue for January, 1852, the title of the journal was changed to Norton's Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular, and continued until September, 1855. In that year the Book Publishers' Association became the owners of the Literary Gazette and changed its name to American Publishers' Circular and Literary Gazette.

Mr. Norton was born in Hartford, Conn., July 1, 1825. In 1850 he came to New York and established himself as a library and purchasing agent at 71 Chambers Street. A year later he began the publication of Norton's Literary Advertiser, to assist him in bringing his name before the library profession. Later, when the Duyckincks abandoned their Literary World, Norton enlarged the scope of his journal, which had already become Norton's Literary Gazette, and addressed himself to the reader as well as to the librarian and bookseller. Indeed, Norton spared no pains to represent the bibliographical and bibliopolistic interests of the United States; but his efforts were only indifferently successful, owing, probably, to the fact that his enterprise was not backed by a sufficient interest in, or knowledge of, the subject.

In 1855, The Book Publishers' Association was formed and assumed the publication of Norton's Literary Gazette, changing the name to the American Publishers' Circular, etc. Mr. Norton was retained as managing editor of the publication, and acted also as Assistant Secretary and Librarian of The Book Publishers' Association. In July, 1856, he severed his connection with the Association and with the Publishers' Circular, and again devoted himself to his bookselling and publishing business. He published a number of bibliographical works, among them the first edition of Poole's "Index to Periodicals."

In 1862 Colonel Giorgi d'Utassy organized the Garibaldi Guard, with which Norton went to the front. He served during the Civil War, was a member of General Fitz-John Porter's staff, and was mustered out with the rank of brigadier-general.

In 1867 he was appointed United States Commissioner to the Paris Exposition, having in 1866, according to the official report of the United States Centennial Commission, been the first publicly to propose the Centennial Exposition. Mr. Norton was well fitted for the position by experience, having served as Commissioner to the World's Fair in London in 1851 and in 1853 as a juror in the New York World's Fair. In 1873 he was called to Philadelphia by the Executive Committee, and placed in charge of the press, the entire making public of the enterprise being placed in his hands, where his extensive knowledge of both the American and foreign press proved to be of the greatest value.

*From "Book-trade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," Copyright, 1898, by A. Growoll.

to the Centennial Board of Finance, under whose general direction he operated.

In 1883 he suggested and carried out the plan for a foreign exhibition in Boston, which proved a great success and led to the organization of the American Exhibition in London, 1887. Upon his return from London, Norton became editor of the Civil Service Chronicle.

In 1891, while in Chicago looking after details in behalf of the Fair Committee of the World's Columbian Exhibition, he was stricken with paralysis, and died at the Palmer House, January 29.

A FRENCH SCHOOL FOR PUBLISHERS AND BOOKSELLERS.

STIMULATED by the discussion of schools for the book trade at the recent Congress of Publishers, the Paris Cercle de la Librairie is considering the establishing of a school for publishers and booksellers. According to the promoters of the scheme, the need for such an institution has long been badly felt. The course of studies is to last three years, and the curriculum is to be most comprehensive as well as thorough. French and foreign literary history and criticism are down on the programme with literary and other biography, bibliography, the philological study of ancient and modern languages and commercial law. Technical subjects will include everything relating to the turning out of a volume, from reading a manuscript to binding—comprehending, in fact, the printer's art and a great deal outside of it. Whether the science of advertising and the art of selling a book are likewise to be taught is not specified.

THE NEW GERMAN COPYRIGHT LAW.

THE new German copyright bill, which the Reichstag is to act upon early next year, provides for the better protection of the copyright of daily newspapers and of literature generally. No paper will be permitted to reprint articles without stating the source, or to reproduce a scientific article from a journal without the special permission of the author. Reproduction of the news of the day will be permitted if the source be acknowledged. The copyright of musical works will be extended from thirty to fifty years.

THE PUBLICATIONS OF THE HOUSE OF NEWBERY, 1740-1800.

THE treasures of the private collections of the city of Boston have recently been augmented through the acquisition, by D. C. Heath, the well-known publisher, of the library of children's books and educational works issued by the House of Newbery from 1740 to 1800—which was brought together by Charles Welsh when he was writing the biography of John Newbery—Oliver Goldsmith's friend and publisher, the founder of the famous publishing house which for nearly 150 years was at the corner of St. Paul's Churchyard, London. These are the books to which Washington Irving referred in his preface to Bracebridge Hall when he said: "Nor was it without a recurrence of childish interest that I first peeped into Mr. Newbery's shop, in St. Paul's Churchyard, that fountain-head of literature. Mr. Newbery was the first that ever filled my infant mind with the idea of a great and good man. He published all the picture-books of the day, and, out of his abundant love for children, he charged 'nothing for either paper or print, and only a penny-halfpenny for the binding.'"

At the end of his "Bookseller of the Last Century" Mr. Welsh brought together a catalogue of the chief publications of the House of Newbery which is of value to the bibliograph, the student of books for children and of the educational literature of the last century. Many of the little books there enumerated have disappeared entirely, for nothing vanishes so completely as the children's books of bygone times which were thumbed until they were worn out and useless. But the collection which Mr. Heath has acquired, and which is now being catalogued and arranged, is as fully representative as any collection is ever likely to be. It contains some unique treasures, and forms an instructive object lesson in the evolution of children's literature and of the school-book. Besides a collection of chap-books for children, several battledores, (the successors of the Horn-books,) some rare primers, a thoroughly representative collection of fiction for children, of early toy-books, and of those books in which the pill of information is gilded in a fashion which is very curious to those who are familiar with present-day methods of conveying instruction, there are in the collection first editions of Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield," "The Traveller," and "The Deserted Village," and of other works by Goldsmith and Dr. Johnson, as well as many other rare treasures.

6. From Sea to Sea. Kipling. Doubleday & McClure Co.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

VIRGINIA BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE VIRGINIA BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION will hold its annual meeting at Virginia Beach, Va., August 4 and 5. The trade generally is cordially invited to attend the sessions of the association, whose work, though directed only to local affairs, is encouraging in its results and ought to prove inspiring to those in other States who may be without an organization of this kind. T. S. Beckwith, the president of the association, at Petersburg, Va., or J. V. Alfriend, the secretary, at Norfolk, Va., will be glad to hear from those who wish to attend the convention.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

JOHN OLIVER HOBBS'S forthcoming novel—a sequel to "The School for Saints"—is to be called "Robert Orange," after the character who, at the end of the former work, was left in the position of an innocent bigamist.

Literature contains the following interesting story of the ancestry of Alexander Poushkin, the Russian poet: "Peter the Great's Ambassador at the Porte stole a nigger boy from a Turkish harem and sent him back to Russia. 'The nigger boy' grew up to be a famous general; his son was a famous sea captain, and his great-grandson was Alexander Poushkin, Russia's greatest poet. Coming of such an ancestry, it was only natural that the poet's life should be one of romance. Twice he was exiled; once on the way to meet his bride he was detained by a cholera quarantine, and during his enforced delay produced some of his most famous works, and his death was a fitting end to his strange career. Fatally wounded in a duel in which he had been the challenger, he turned over with a last effort and shot his opponent in the chest. His shot was not fatal, and the man recovered. Poushkin's death created a sensation in St. Petersburg, and Russia mourned the descendant of the African slave."

OBITUARY NOTES.

THOMAS WALDEN died on the 19th inst. at Holyoke, Mass. He was born in New York in 1829, and during his early years served on the city staff of the New York Tribune. After leaving the Tribune he drifted into the publishing business, and up to the time of his death was associated with his son in publishing The United States Paper Maker, The New England Stationer and Printer, and The New England Paper and Pulp Trade.

REV. THOMAS JEFFERSON SAWYER, Professor of Theology Emeritus and formerly Dean of Tufts Divinity School, died on the 22d inst. at Boston, Mass. Dr. Sawyer was born at Reading, Vt., in January, 1804. He was the author of a number of theological works. The best known of these is "Endless Punishment in the Very Words of Its Advocates," which was issued in 1880. For a time he edited The Christian Messenger and The Christian Ambassador.

RICHARD CONGREVE, the well-known Positivist, who founded the First Church of Humanity in England, died July 7, at Hampstead, Eng. He was born at Leamington, Hastings, Warwickshire, September 4, 1818, and was educated at Rugby under Dr. Arnold. In 1855 he published a small volume on the history of the Roman Empire of the West and an edition of "Aristotle's Politics." Some of his other works are "The Worship of Humanity," "Human Catholicism," "Gibraltar," "Italy and the Western Powers," "Elizabeth of England," various translations from Comte, and essays and sermons.

ROBERT GREEN INGERSOLL, the well-known lawyer and orator, died suddenly, on the 21st inst., at the residence of his son-in-law at Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. Ingersoll was born at Dresden, N. Y., August 11, 1833, and was the son of a Congregational clergyman. His boyhood was spent in Wisconsin and Illinois, where he also studied law. In 1862 he went to war as Colonel of the Eleventh Illinois Cavalry, and made an exceedingly good record as a soldier. He served as Attorney-General of Illinois in 1866. As a lawyer Ingersoll took part in some of the most noted suits in the country, being particularly distinguished as counsel to the so-called Star-route mail conspirators, whose trial ended in acquittal in 1883. His chief fame, however, rests upon his attacks upon what he considered the superstitions and inconsistencies of theology, about which he produced a number of books and minor works, beginning with "The Gods," 1878. This was followed by "Ghosts," 1879, and "Some Mistakes of Moses," 1879, a volume of "Prose, Poems, and Selections," 1879, and several volumes of lectures. Colonel Ingersoll drew many to hear his eloquence who did not at all believe in his doctrine. His speeches were marked by an extraordinary facility of phrasing and unusual power of graphic portrayal. It was he who gave to James G. Blaine the title of Plumed Knight which ever after clung to him.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

EDOUARD ROUYEYRE, 76 Rue de Seine, Paris, has now issued the third volume of the new enlarged edition of his "Connaissances Nécessaires à un Bibliophile." This volume deals with the choice of books, reading, knowledge of books, characteristics of rare, precious, and curious books; how they are distinguished by experts, how prices are fixed, book-hunting, etc. Under these headings this part of the very valuable work brings much information on the first books printed in France, the first French translations, almanacs and missals, the first books printed in Greek and Hebrew type, books printed in colors, chained books, etc. There is also a remarkable chapter on literary maniacs, and anonymous, disguised, and apocryphal writers. The illustrations are from rare prints of the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries. Elzeviers, Aldines, and Estiennes are fully described. (8+240 p. 8°, pap., 8 francs.)

DR. CYRUS ADLER, of the Smithsonian Institution, contributed to Science for June 2 and 9 a detailed account of the Second Conference on an International Catalogue of Scientific Literature, which is now issued as a separate pamphlet. This conference, which was held in London in October, 1898, under the auspices of the Royal Society, was planned to perfect the scheme for the great international scientific catalogue initiated by the Royal Society in 1896. Its proceedings were recorded at the time in Science and elsewhere, but Dr. Adler has now given a careful and thorough summary of the undertaking, reviewing the work done previous to this conference. It is plain that bureaus for collecting the material for this catalogue should be established in each country co-operating, and strong efforts were made last year to obtain a government appropriation of $10,000 to defray the expense of such a bureau for the United States. These were unsuccessful, but the attempt will be renewed this year with better hope of success. As the Royal Society intends to begin the catalogue January 1, 1900, it will be necessary, should government aid not be forthcoming, to provide for its publication through contributions from universities or otherwise. (44 p. 8°.)

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—H. M. Bryant, 223 Middle St., Portland, Me., Miscellaneous, chiefly Americana. (No. 12, 1845-1975 titles.)—Heinrich Lesser (Oscar Lessheim), Neue Taschenstr., 21, Theologie. (No. 274, 1265 titles.)—Georg Lissa, 21 Zimmerstr., Berlin, S. W., Prussia, Fine arts. (327 titles.)—Maggs Bros., 159 Church St., London, Engraved portraits, engravings, autograph letters, old masters. (No. 166, 1294 titles.)—Bernard Quaritch, 15 Piccadilly, London, Mediæval manuscripts, rare and valuable books relating to natural history and science, the fine arts, sports, and general literature of the East and West, from the library of Ch. Schefer and that of the late H. T. Stainton. (No. 191, 697 titles, 6d.)

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Sewanee Review, which is the quarterly journal of the University of the South, will hereafter be published by Longmans, Green & Co.

In Lantern-Land, edited by Charles Dexter Allen and William Newnham Carleton, of Hartford, Conn., has suspended publication. Six numbers were published.

The Cosmopolitan has discontinued the publication of its version of Tolstoy's latest novel, "The Awakening," the printing of which has given rise to so much criticism from Tolstoy's agent in London.

Literary Life, "a weekly newspaper devoted to books and bookmen," will be launched in September in New York City by the Montgomery Publishing Co., of No. 23 Park Row. Its day of issue will be Saturday.

A NEW weekly publication dealing with economic questions has been started in Chicago. It is called The Other Side, and is published by The Other Side Publishing Co., 126-132 Market Street, the members of the publishing company and the editors of the paper to remain unknown. The subscribers are to be the contributors, and the columns of the paper will always be open to communications on civil service, taxation, the relations of labor and capital, etc. The tone of the paper is to be kept cold and impartial, and theories, opinions, and experiences are invited on both sides of every question. The special purpose of the paper is to give the "other side" of every grievance a full and impartial hearing.

BUSINESS NOTES.

AKRON, OHIO.—W. G. Robinson, bookseller, has been succeeded by W. J. Armbruster.

ATLANTIC, IOWA.—Palmer & Findlay, booksellers, have been succeeded by W. T. Palmer & Co.

BELOIT, KAN.—Bartleson & Mahaffa, booksellers, have been succeeded by Mahaffa & O'Rourke.

FENWICK, MICH.—Angus Stewart, bookseller, has sold out.

LAWRENCE, KAN.—B. W. Henshaw, bookseller, has sold out his business to the Lawrence Book and Music Store.

NORFOLK, VA.—The Nusbaum Book and News Company will occupy the store and part of the third floor of the new building to be erected at the corner of Brook Avenue and Granby Street, opposite the Monticello Hotel. The Nusbaum store will have 3159 square feet of floor space and will be lighted by two oval windows each nine feet long on Granby Street and by a window thirty feet long on Brook Avenue. The store will be finished in white and gold, and the fixtures will be made of selected quartered oak. The fixtures will include 75 feet of glass counter cases, with white marble bases, and 80 feet of movable bookcase shelving. Arrangements have been made for a luxurious room for the exclusive use of ladies.

NORWALK, CONN.—The stock of J. T. Hayes, bookseller, has been damaged by water. The loss is $500, which is covered by insurance.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

W. BLACKWOOD & SONS have in press an abridged edition of Kinglake's "Crimea," which has been revised by Lieut.-Colonel Sir G. S. Clarke.

GINN & Co. will publish shortly "Representative Poems of Burns, and Carlyle's Essay on Burns," with introduction and notes by Charles Lane Hanson of the Mechanic Arts High Schools, Boston.

MISS FLORENCE E. BATE, of Detroit, Mich., who was formerly with John MacFarlane, Hunter, Glenn & Hunter, and later buyer for J. V. Sheehan & Co., has accepted a position with Harper & Brothers.

GEORGE B. FORREST, Indianapolis, Ind., has prepared and published a "National Mail Order Register and Business Record," a convenient method of keeping track of the names and addresses of buyers, what they buy, what they pay, what the article cost, the profit, etc. The Register contains 36 oblong pages 9½ x 6½, ruled, and retails for 25 cents.

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT have just ready in their attractive Nuggets Series "Patriotic Nuggets," selections from Franklin, Washington, Jefferson, Webster, Lincoln, and Beecher, gathered by John R. Howard; also, a revised and enlarged edition of the "Don't Worry Nuggets," selections from Epictetus, Emerson, George Eliot, and Browning, gathered by Jeanne G. Pennington.

THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY, Indianapolis, have in preparation for publication in the fall "The Puritan Republic," by Judge Daniel Wait Howe; "American Fungi," by Capt. Charles McIlvaine, profusely illustrated, partly in color; "Book-Lover's Verse," edited by Howard S. Ruddy; and a reprint of the late Richard Malcolm Johnston's essays on literary and social topics, with the addition of a second series.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have withdrawn their imprint from Prof. A. L. Perry's unfortunate "History of Williams College." The publishers, in a letter to President Carter, explain that the book was altogether manufactured under the author's care, and was not read by them. Also, that their "own part in the matter has been very slight, as no copies of the book have passed through our hands except the very few sent to us here, and they have now been withdrawn from sale, and we have written Professor Perry directing him to remove our name from the title-page."

HENRY HOLT & Co. will hereafter publish the series of Yale Studies in English, under the general editorship of Prof. Albert S. Cook, of Yale, which was recently issued by Lamson, Wolfe & Co. They have also acquired the volumes of this series already issued, including "The Foreign Sources of Modern English Versification," by Charlton M. Lewis; "Aelfric," by Caroline Louisa White; "The Life of St. Cecilia," from the manuscript Ashmole, 43 and manuscript Cotton Tiberius, E. VII., by Bertha Ellen Lovewell, and "Andreas, The Legend of St. Andrew," translated from the old English by Robert Kilburn Root.

NELSON S. WAKEFIELD, who claims to be the manager of the Tremont Publishing Company of Boston, was arrested in New York on the 21st inst., on complaint of Clark Bell, a lawyer. The charge is that Wakefield had represented himself as interested in the publication of a work devoted to engravings and short biographical sketches of prominent men of New York, and in November, 1898, obtained from Bell a check for $25 and a steel engraving of himself valued at $125, the check to pay for inserting Bell's portrait in the forthcoming book, and the plate to be returned. Since that time Bell claims that he has been unable to obtain any satisfaction from Wakefield.

THE BROTHERS OF THE BOOK, of which Laurence C. Woodworth, of Gouverneur, N. Y., is the "Scrivener," have just published in a neat booklet Robert Louis Stevenson's essay on "The Morality of the Profession of Letters." This essay was first printed in The Fortnightly Review for April, 1881, and was never issued in book form until included, with other miscellaneous writings, in the Edinburgh and Thistle editions of Stevenson's complete works. This first separate reprint, privately printed for circulation in America only, is published by arrangement with Stevenson's American publishers, Charles Scribner's Sons. It is printed on hand-made paper and neatly bound in cloth. The edition is limited to 299 copies.

THE PENN PUBLISHING CO. have just ready "My Lady Barefoot," a story of a little backwoods girl, by Mrs. Evelyn Raymond; "Young Gold Seekers," a story for boys, by Edward S. Ellis; also, an illustrated handbook on "Dancing," by Marguerite Wilson, with a full list of calls for square dances and 100 figures for the German. They will publish next week "A Maid of the First Century," an historical story for girls, by Lucy Foster Madison, with illustrations by Ida Waugh; and a popular handbook on "Practical Palmistry," by Henry Frith. About the middle of August they will publish a volume entitled "Pennsylvania Stories," by Arthur Hobson Quinn, who gives a number of attractive stories of undergraduate life at the University of Pennsylvania, which have been illustrated by F. F. Lincoln.

J. F. TAYLOR & Co., 66 Fifth Avenue, New York, publishers of subscription books and general Eastern agents for the subscription publications of Little, Brown & Co., J. B. Lippincott Co., J. M. Dent & Co., and others, announce that they have opened, under the management of Rutger B. Jewett, a department for the manufacture of trade books. They will shortly publish "Trinity Bells," by Amelia E. Barr, a story of old New York; "Little Leather Breeches," by Francis P. Wightman, a collection of Southern rhymes, printed in colors; and new illustrated editions of "The Potentate," by Frances Forbes-Robertson, and "Ezekiel's Sin," by J. H. Pearce. They have recently added to their list of trade books "Canadian Folk-Life and Folk-Lore," by W. P. Greenough, formerly published by Geo. H. Richmond & Co., and Leonard's "Handbook of Wrestling," formerly published by E. R. Pelton.

GEORGE C. SHAW, 53 Pickering Building, Cincinnati, O., will publish in the fall a work entitled "The Hesperian Tree: an annual of the Ohio Valley—1900." The work, which will be edited by John James Piatt, will contain original articles by such writers as William D. Howells, James Lane Allen, James Whitcomb Riley, John Hay, Hon. Henry Waterson, Murat Halstead, Sarah Piatt, Mary Hartwell Catherwood, and others equally well known, all of whom are westerners either by birth or long residence. The illustrations will be furnished by F. C. Steele, Caroline A. Lord and a number of others. The title-page will be designed by H. F. Farny, the Indian artist and author, and will be rubricated. The edition will be limited to 1,000 numbered copies. Subscriptions will be received up to September 1. Mr. Shaw has also under way a volume of poems by Horace W. Williamson, that will be privately printed in an edition of 250 copies.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have taken over for publication the excellent edition of Henry Kingsley's works formerly published here by Ward, Lock & Co. This edition is edited by Clement Shorter, and includes "The Recollections of Geoffrey Hamlyn," "Raven-shoe," "The Hilliards and the Burtons," "Silcote of Silcotes," "Stretton," "Austin Elliot and the Harveys," "Mlle. Matilde," "Old Margaret, and Other Stories," "Valentin and Number Seventeen," "Oakshott Castle and the Grange Garden," "Reginald Hetheridge and Leighton Court," and "The Boy in Grey, and Other Stories." They have also in preparation an edition of the complete works of G. J. Whyte-Melville. Among the volumes already prepared, which are to be followed by others at monthly intervals, are "Katerfelto: A Story of Exmoor," "Cerise: A Tale of the Last Century," and "Sarchedon: A Legend of the Great Queen."

J. PIERPONT MORGAN has purchased the comparatively small but choice library formed by the late James Toovey, the well-known bookseller of Piccadilly, London. The collection is rich in books from the press of the early English printers, one of its "corner-stones" being a fine copy of the "Boke of St. Albans." Most important of all, according to the London Athenaeum, "is a splendid copy of the First Folio Shakespeare, one of the very finest in existence, its measurements being 13 $\frac{3}{8}$ inches by 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches. It belonged to Sir Robert Sidney, Earl of Leicester, whose arms are stamped on the sides, is in the original calf, and very many of the leaves have rough edges. The library is also rich in bindings by the most eminent masters of France, Italy, and England, many of which were purchased in Paris many years ago, long before such things were in fashion, and when, consequently, they were to be picked up for insignificant sums. It is especially strong in Aldines, and it has a copy of Walton's 'Lives,' with a presentation inscription from the author. A catalogue, with numerous facsimiles by Griggs, is to be printed."

RAND, McNALLY & CO. will publish next month "Baldoon," a new novel by Le Roy Hooker; and an édition de luxe, in two octavo volumes, of Bulwer Lytton's "The Last Days of Pompeii," which will be handsomely gotten up and will be illustrated with 58 monogravures reproduced from original photographs. About the 1st of September they will bring out an eight-volume set of Kipling's works, which will include the following: (1) "Barrack Room Ballads," "Departmental Ditties," and "Other Verse;" (2) "Soldiers Three;" (3) "The Phantom Rickshaw" and the "City of Dreadful Night;" (4) "Wee Willie Winkie," "American Notes," and "Other Stories;" (5) "Under the Deodars" and the "Story of the Gadsbys;" (6) "Mine Own People" and "In Black and White;" (7) "The Light that Failed;" and (8) "Plain Tales from the Hills." They have added a handsome new line of 12mos to their attractive list for fall trade. The Antique Library of popular stories includes well-selected titles of standard works of the world's great authors. The Twentieth Century and New Alpha libraries have been improved in make-up. In paper bindings the Globe and Oriental libraries and Rialto Series have been carefully revised, and several additions have been made to the titles.

JOHN LANE has just published "Defender of the Faith," by Frank Mathew, dealing with Henry VIII.; "The Mandate," by T. Baron Russell, and "Both Great and Small," by Arthur E. J. Legge, two new novels of modern interest; "Appreciations and Addresses," by Lord Rosebery, edited by Charles Geake. The "Appreciations" will include "Burke," "Robert Burns," "Wallace," "Robert Louis Stevenson," "Gladstone," and "London." Among the "Addresses" may be found "Bookishness and Statesmanship," "Parliamentary Oratory," "English-Speaking Brotherhood," "Eton," "Sport," and "Golf." In London the publisher has been legally restrained from presenting copies of the reports of Lord Rosebery's speeches that have appeared in the London Times, but action taken in England will not affect the American edition. The action which the London Times has brought against Mr. Lane is in the nature of a test case, the object being to obtain an authoritative judgment, once for all, on the vexed question to what extent it is permissible to quote reports, telegrams, or articles that have been published in a newspaper. Only a portion of the speeches in the volume were set up from the Times' reports, and all the proof-sheets were revised by Lord Rosebery's secretary, before publication, from the original manuscripts.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

BIND YOUR WEEKLY.

Don't let your copies of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY go to waste. Some day it will be money in your pocket to have the volumes for reference. The Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 59 Duane Street, New York, furnishes a neat cloth binder, lettered in gold, for 90 cents.

BOOKBINDING FOR PUBLISHERS

IT is easy enough to solicit and obtain business when you can offer low prices. But it is necessary to have something besides low prices. A good reputation, good work and the ability to live up to contracts are some of these qualifications. There are many bookbinders who will take work for a low price and then cheapen the binding and delay the work because they have not the facilities of turning it out, thus defrauding the publishers.

In my new place of business, in the building at the corner of Centre and Leonard Streets, where I have a floor space of over 40,000 square feet, filled with the very latest and most modern machinery, such as automatic cutting and trimming machines, rapid quadruple folding machines, new model Smyth sewing machines, the most powerful smashing machines, the very latest improved Crawley rounding and backing machines, Smyth bookcase machines, and the very finest stamping department in this city, all run by my own electric plant, also a very extensive marbling and edge gilding department, managed by the most skilled mechanics. My capacity is over 15,000 cloth bound books per day, and I can do the best work at the lowest prices. I can safely say that I can save publishers who have large editions to be bound from 10 to 20 per cent. on all bindings. I am now ready to make arrangements for bindings for the year 1900.

This is not a plant run by capitalists, or any other moneyed trust or syndicate as a venture, but a well-appointed bindery, managed by a practical man who has made a life study of bookbinding, and has risen from apprenticeship to ownership.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL

For 1899 (Twenty-Seventh Year.)

Large 8vo. With Duplex Index.

"The Publishers' Trade List Annual" for 1899 will contain:

The latest CATALOGUES OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume.

These Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books.

The patent "DUPLEX INDEX" having given such general satisfaction, we are now applying it to all copies of the "Annual." Volumes supplied with the "DUPLEX INDEX" have the alphabet printed on the concave surface as well as on the margin of the page, which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

Only those subscribing and forwarding amount now are entitled to subscription rate of $1.50; after publication day, and on orders for which we have to collect after that date, the regular price will be $2.00 net.

Remittances should be made by Check, Money Order on New York, or Registered Letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.
